All of our team are experienced agents with a long and enviable record of success. Our commitment to the pursuit of excellence is evident throughout the organisation. We have built a close knit team of sales people and property managers who all share a common work ethic and client focused values.

Today's modern technology has provided tools for Real Estate to be conducted at a frenetic pace, however the personal relationship and synergy between agent and clients remains fundamental to successful transactions within this company.

We have a strong presence in Dalkeith, Nedlands, Claremont, Peppermint Grove, Mosman Park, Cottesloe and North Fremantle through to West Perth. On the south side we have a strong focus on East Fremantle, Bicton, Mount Pleasant and Applecross. We leave no stone unturned and have an open door policy.

We're here to find the best deal, from the most capable buyer. Buyers are not typically loyal to one agent, unless they have retained them. Our networks and the campaigns we run find, connect with and draw out everyone in the market that's a good fit for your property. It doesn't matter if they currently live around the corner, across the suburb, in a different post code, in a different city or in a different country. We find and connect with everyone who is the right fit and has the right budget for your home. Wherever possible they are carefully put in a competitive dynamic with other buyers. From there we negotiate with tact and finesse until we know the offer in front of you is the highest and best achievable from any source. If that means we need to work with any other agents who have buyers to introduce, we do. They may be retained as buyers Agents or they may be conjuncting Agents, it doesn't matter. We always work in your best interests and ensure every opportunity is maximised.

EVERY BUYER IN THE MARKET PLACE

SALE STRATEGIES SUMMARISED

The goal with all marketing is to make your property stand out and attract the greatest numbers of well matched, well qualified Buyers. We do that by connecting the benefits and features of your property with the Buyers' aspirations and needs. We want to do that with multiple groups of Buyers so that you get multiple, wherever possible.

Everyone's motivation, tastes and capacity will be different. The more Buyers we can connect with and have offers from, the clearer your understanding will be of who is out there and what they are prepared to pay.

In the process of a sale, a simple truth is that Buyers care most about competition from other Buyers in their pursuit of a property they want, far more than any other consideration. We work that to your advantage.

We find you the best match and negotiate with empathy, compassion, tact, finesse, between multiple parties, to raise the level of the transaction to the point that it is clear you have the best possible offer in front of you.

1. "$X" – ALSO KNOWN AS THE "FIXED PRICE" METHOD.

This is the simplest form of selling where you stipulate a set price with the expectation that you will negotiate downwards from there, at least to some degree. Ideally the price should be easy to estimate based on ample comparable properties both SOLD and FOR SALE. It is a very simple way to sell and one which the general public clearly understand. It works well when there are ample comparable sales data in a flat marketplace. It doesn't work as well when there are few comparables and/or the market is moving either positively or negatively during the selling period.

2. "OFFERS"

The intent with this method is to put the primary focus on the property with all of its features and benefits, and how appealing that is to the buyer, and keep the price more general and less specific, allowing room for more engagement over a wider price range without making assumptions either high or low, that may be misplaced. Most buyers do prefer to have a price guide with this method of sale, to see if it is broadly within their budget before enquiring.

3. "OFFERS BY X-DATE"

This strategy adds the element of keeping the time frame finite. People will tend to work to a deadline if you give them one. It is an effective strategy and prevents the sale becoming stale. The time frame is usually about four to five weeks.

4. "FROM PRICING"

The idea here is to pitch the property at an obviously attractive price point with the aim being to generate maximum interest, leaving the top end open and uncapped to see how far competition and negotiation can raise it. The danger is in pitching the starting point too low and being accused of bait advertising, which is illegal and counterproductive. The other consideration is that it can also set a low number in the buyer's mind. For these reasons the "From price" must be carefully considered and the dialogue around it carefully managed if it is to be used effectively.

5. "AUCTION"

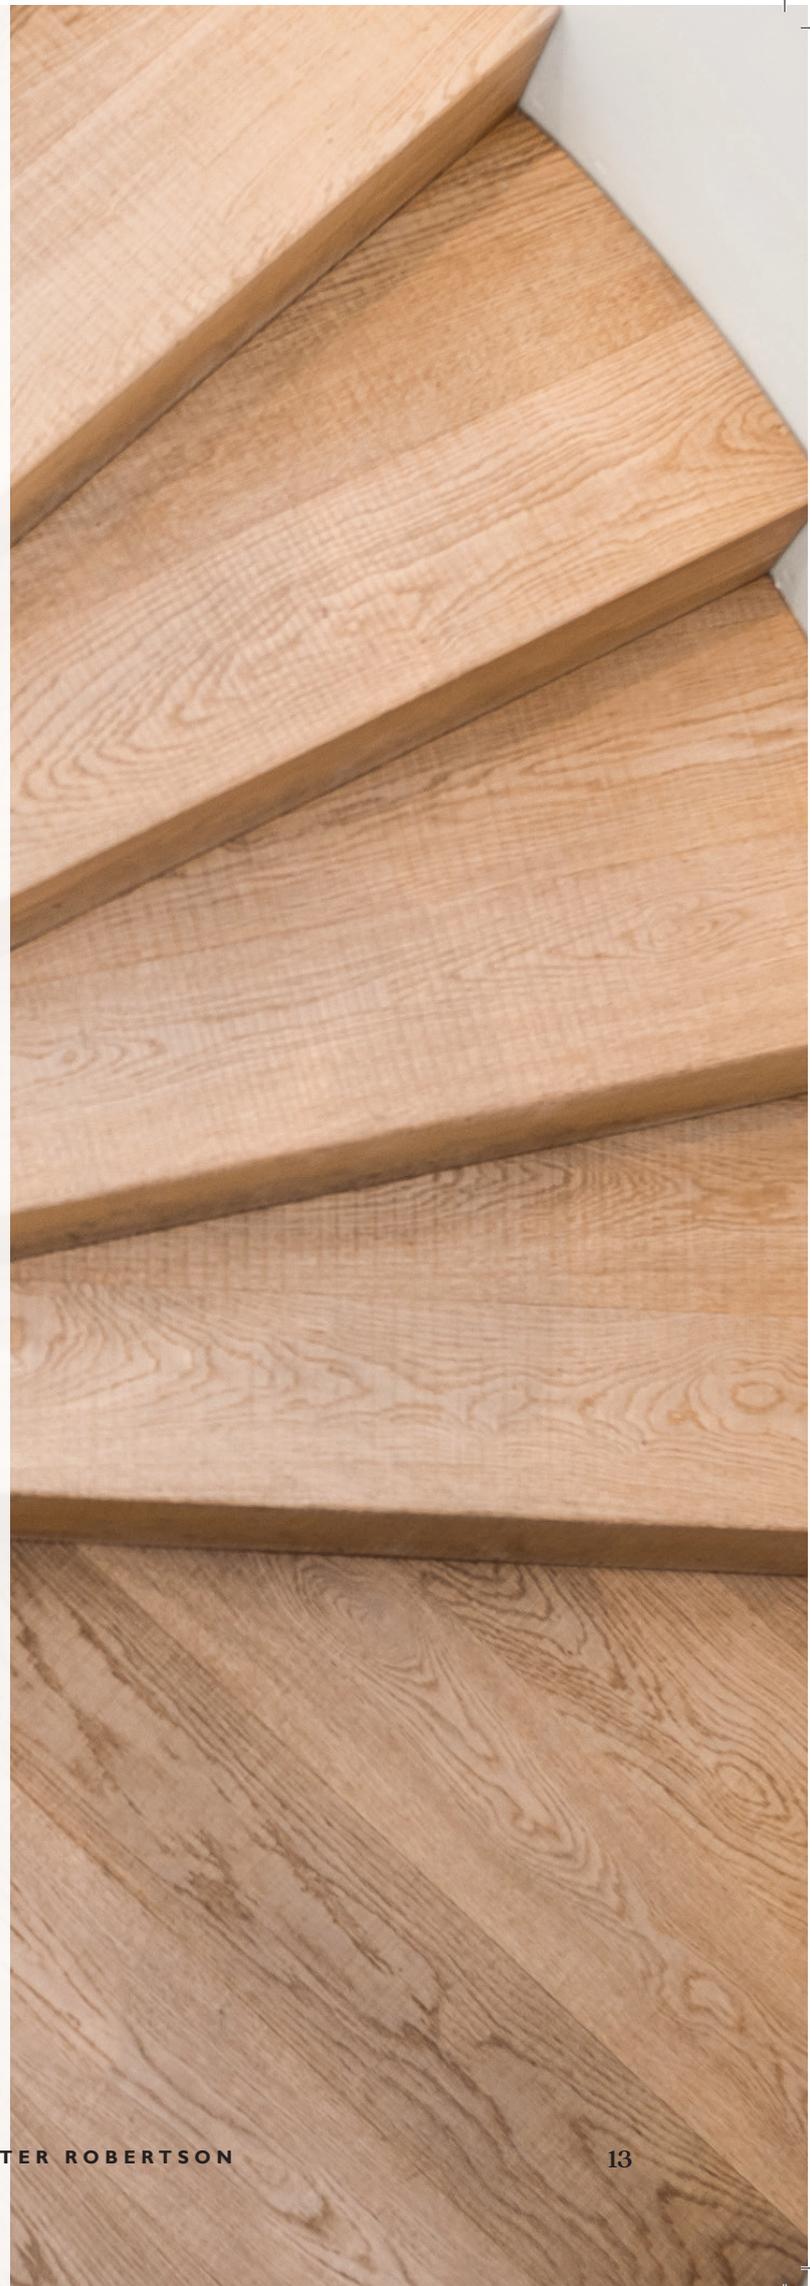

This is a great method of sale for properties that may be in high demand, have unique elements that add a very subjective value, or where a seller absolutely wants cash unconditional offers as an urgent priority. Auctions are often misunderstood in WA. Done well, for the right property and in the right market, they are an excellent method of sale.

6. "OPEN NEGOTIATION"

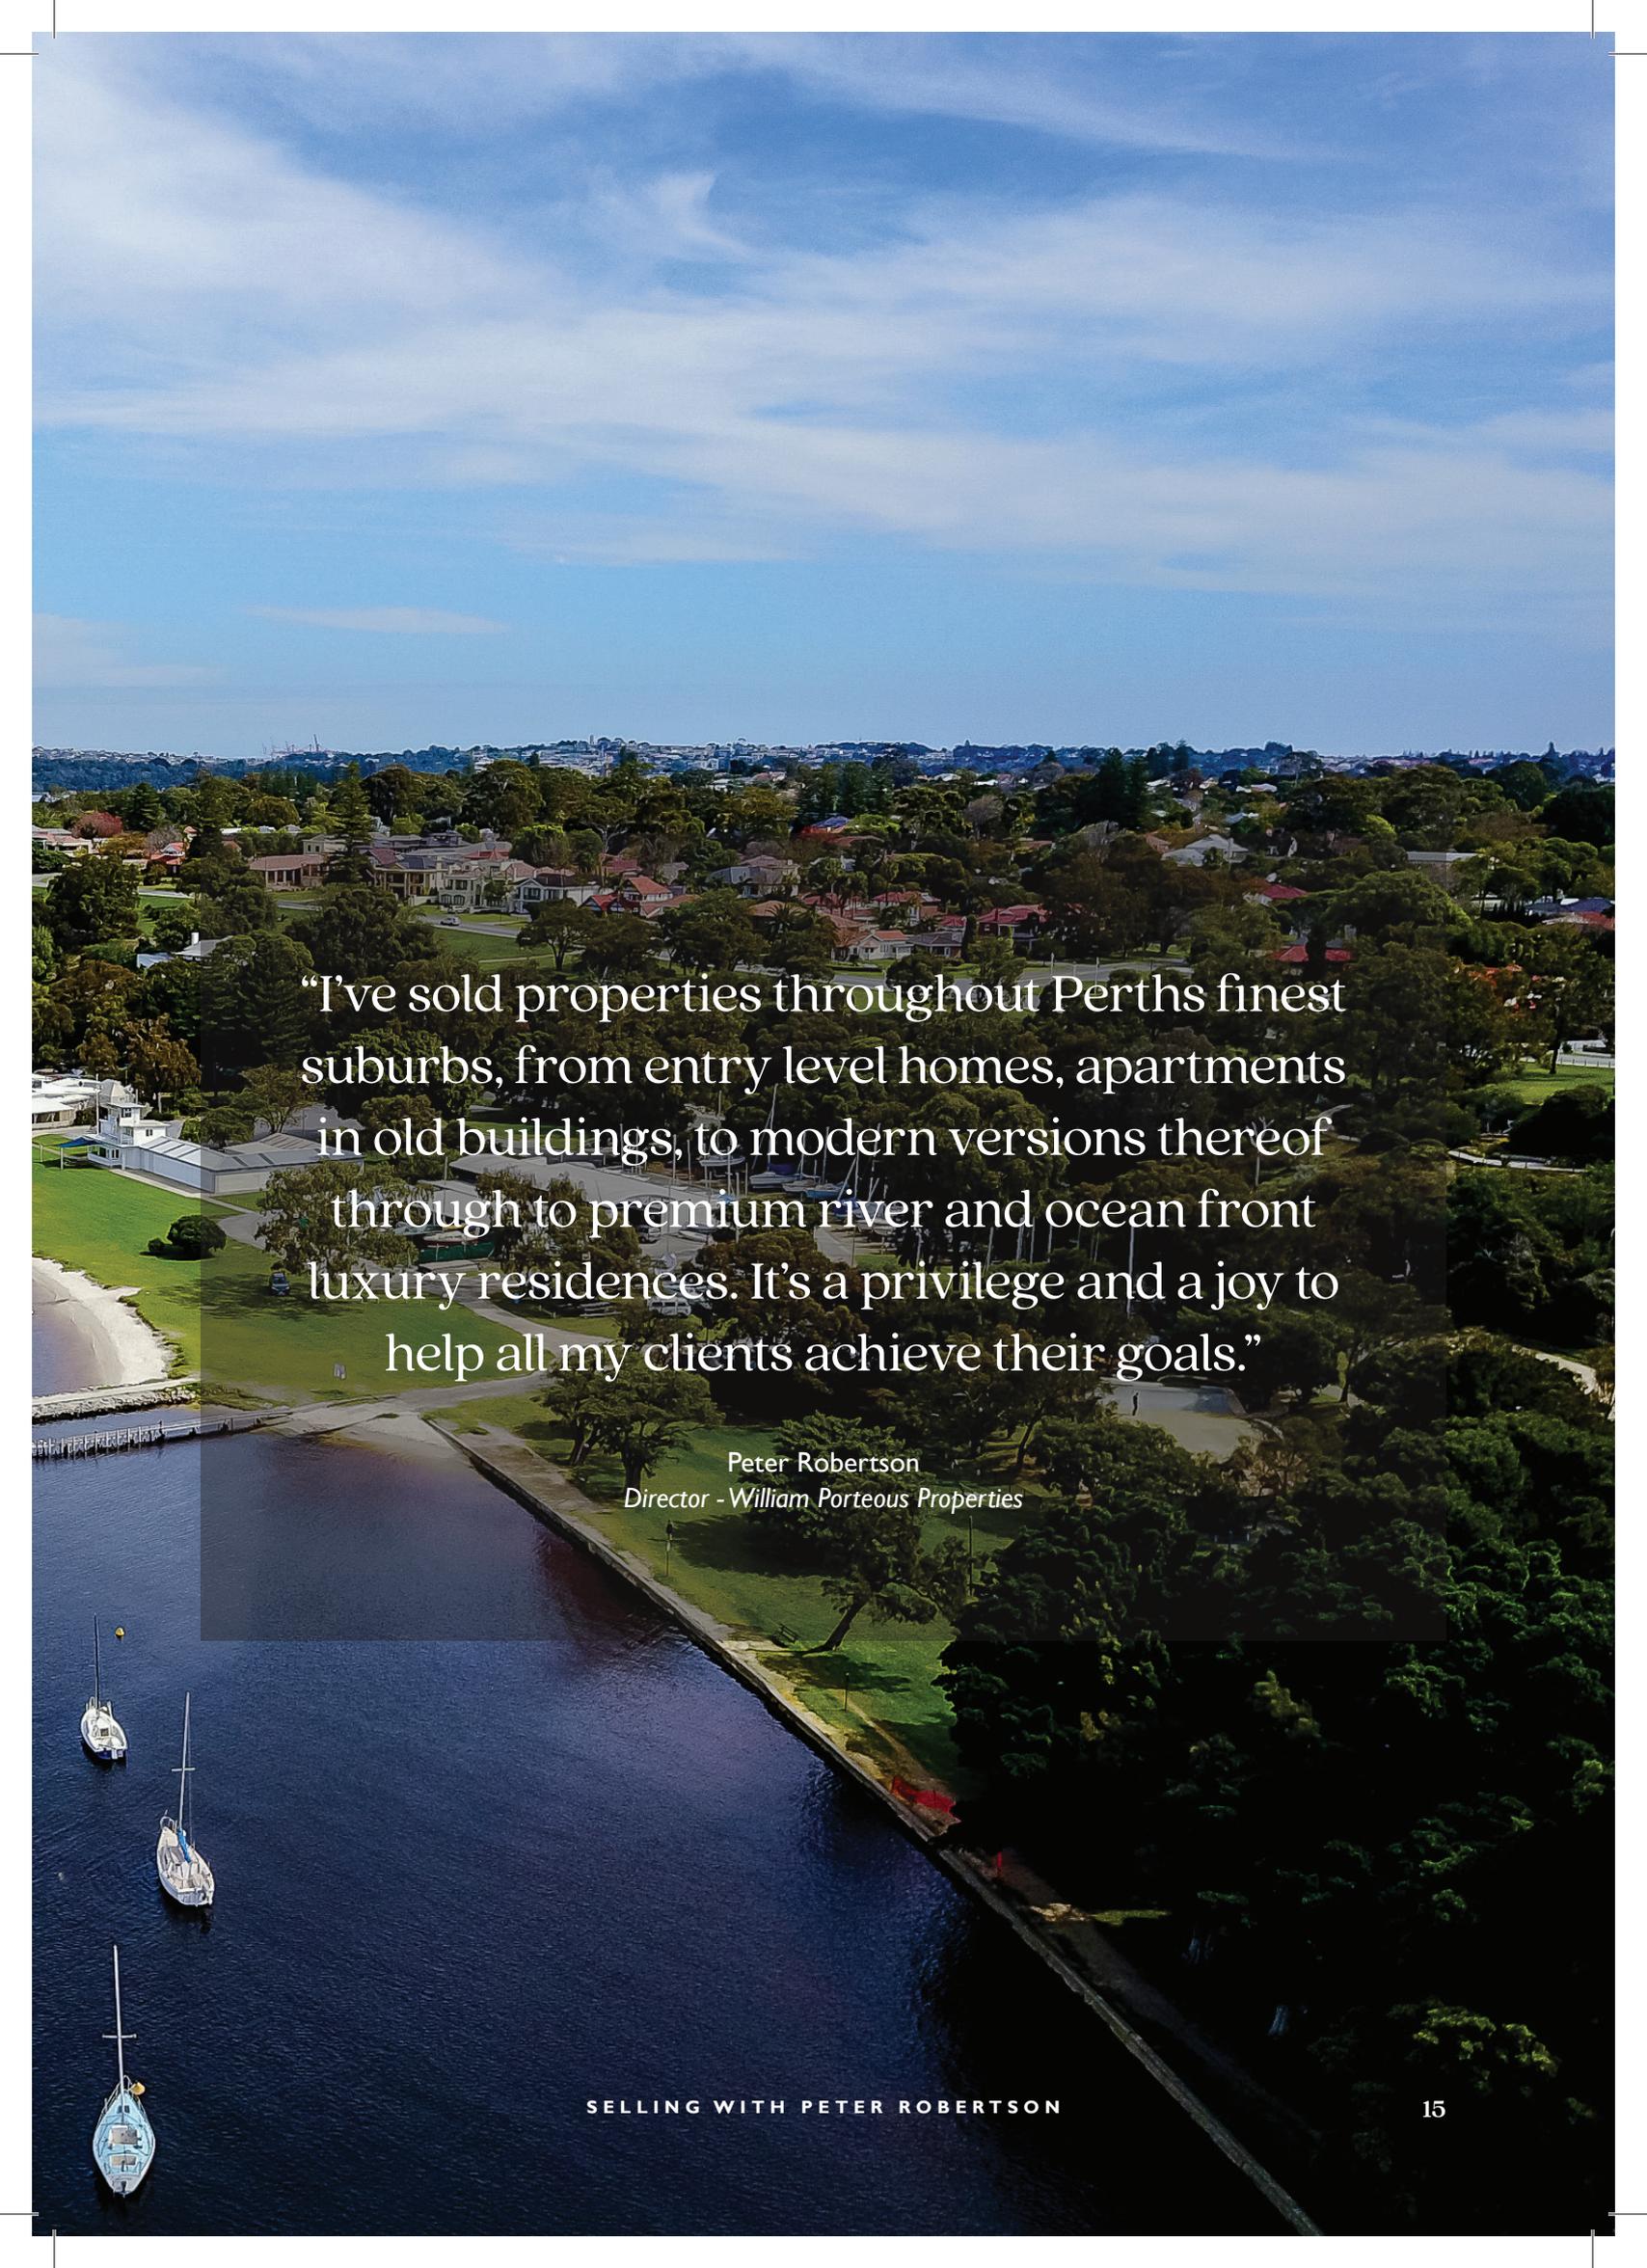

This is effectively a hybrid between an Auction and a private treaty sale. The seller sets the parameters of conditions they are willing to consider with a bid. Buyers and their terms need to be accepted as bidders buy the sellers in order to participate in the sale. The bidding is conducted online as opposed to on-site at the property. The property can sell before the final bidding phase. It makes the price offered by the multiple Buyers transparent, but not the conditions attached to those offers as they are set on a case by case basis with each individual Buyer, in advance of bidding.

7. "EXPRESSION OF INTEREST" (OR E.O.I)

This is a very open method of sale, typically without any time frame or price guide. It is often used on properties that are highly individualistic with unique elements that make the value assessment highly subjective. Often these types of properties have few buyers and time on the market becomes less of an issue. It is more about the right buyer being there at the right time, which may be today, next week, next month or next year. It is usually reserved for very unique, high-value properties.

An aerial photograph of a lush green suburb in Perth, Australia. The foreground shows a dark blue river with three sailboats. The middle ground is filled with dense green trees and a mix of residential buildings, including some large, modern houses and some older structures. In the background, the city skyline is visible under a blue sky with light clouds.

“I’ve sold properties throughout Perth’s finest suburbs, from entry level homes, apartments in old buildings, to modern versions thereof through to premium river and ocean front luxury residences. It’s a privilege and a joy to help all my clients achieve their goals.”
